WELCOME AND SPECIAL ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

WELCOME!

On behalf of the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, and the local arrangements committee, it is our pleasure to welcome you to Las Vegas. Las Vegas is an ideal setting for a conference whose theme is movement and motion. Each year, 40 million visitors pass through its busy streets, enjoying its ever-changing abundance of casino resorts, restaurants, and clubs. More significantly, the city itself is a study in motion, growing steadily, expanding its population, and widening its cultural offerings.

Early travelers knew Las Vegas as a watering hole along the Old Spanish Trail leading from New Mexico to California. A century ago, it was incorporated as a city with a population of approximately 2000. But with the legalization of gambling and the construction of the Hoover Dam in the 1930's, the region began to grow. Since 2000, the population has grown by 40% to its current level of approximately 2 million residents.

The city's skyline reflects the city's protean character: year after year, landmark casinos are imploded to make way for new, architecturally acclaimed resorts and high rises. Having weathered the last recession, the city is once again the site of ambitious building projects, including Caesar's Linq Promenade and High Roller (<https://www.caesars.com/linq/high-roller>). Visitors may wish to explore the new Downtown Project's popular Container Park, a shopping and dining venue near Fremont Street that offers a wide variety of free entertainment (<http://downtowncontainerpark.com>).

The city's most significant feature is its growing and increasingly diverse population. Las Vegas has been ethnically diverse from its inception, as its population included Southern Paiutes, African Americans, Chinese, Mexicans, and various Europeans. Many others have migrated here from the northern and eastern parts of the United States to take advantage of job opportunities or to retire to its sunny climate. More recently, the city has become a popular destination for immigrants from Latin America and the Pacific Rim. Benefiting from this trend, the University of Nevada, Las Vegas has one of the most diverse campuses in the United States.

Las Vegas has begun to mature culturally. The new art-deco inspired Smith Center for the Performing Arts hosts the Las Vegas Philharmonic and serves as an impressive venue for the fine arts. In addition, the city has designated an 18-block 'Downtown Arts District' (<http://www.18b.org>) in order to nurture the local arts scene. Located to the north of the Strip, its boundaries are Las Vegas Boulevard, Hoover Avenue, Colorado Avenue, and Commerce Street. On the first Friday of each month, the district hosts a First Friday gallery walk featuring an eclectic group of visual and performance artists. The city also boasts numerous several unique, nationally-acclaimed museums, such as the National Atomic Testing Museum and the Mob Museum. Several resorts maintain exhibits of artistic or historical interest.

Finally, no trip to southern Nevada is complete without a visit to nearby attractions such as the Hoover Dam, Lake Mead, and the stunningly beautiful Red Rock Canyon.

However you choose to spend your time while attending the conference, we hope that you are able to take advantage of our city's justly famous hospitality.

WELCOME AND SPECIAL ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

SPECIAL ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Welcome to Las Vegas! It has been my pleasure to work with the Section Chairs to ensure that we have access to the breadth of what political science has to offer. I hope that you thoroughly enjoy your time at the conference and take advantage of the opportunities to take quick side trips to Paris, Bellagio, Venice, Luxor, Rio, New York (New York), and other exotic global destinations.

Let me begin with my thanks to you. I was awed by the range of proposals we received and the commitment that you showed to using the Western as a venue to present cutting edge political science scholarship. Having seen some of what we will be talking about over the next few days, I anticipate that the conversations in the panels and in the halls will be great. I also want to thank the Section Chairs for their commitment to the Association. Their ability to craft panels around shared research interests ensures that we will all learn from our time together here.

I would also like to thank the organizers of the four conferences within a conference taking place at this year's meeting (Abolitionist/Decolonial Politics, Teaching and Learning Political Science, APSA's REP Section 20th Anniversary Retrospective, and Asian Pacific Americans and Politics). These conferences within our conference allow scholars with focused interests to build on the infrastructure of the WPSA annual meeting to organize panels that expand the scope of ideas and interests being discussed at the meetings. Please think about using these conferences within a conference as a platform for your scholarship and scholarly networks at future WPSA annual meetings.

I want to offer my personal thanks to our local arrangements chairs, Tiffany Howard and Mark Lutz of the University of Nevada, Las Vegas. They have proved invaluable in translating Las Vegas to outsiders, offering great insights into ways to get to know the real Las Vegas, and in securing support from the University of Nevada, Las Vegas for the conference. As you see them in halls of the conference, please thank them for their dedication. We are also enriched by volunteers from the University who are taking time away from their studies to make sure that our conference experiences are positive. I would particularly like to thank Roman Lewis, a graduate student in the UNLV Department of Political Science, who offered critical assistance with organization and coordination.

We would not be able offer the range of activities and receptions without our conference supporters. The University of Nevada, Las Vegas has provided generous support for conference activities. I would particularly like to thank UNLV Executive Vice President and Provost John Valery White, UNLV College of Liberal Arts Dean Christopher C. Hudgins, and UNLV Department of Political Science Chair John Tuman for their support of the conference. I would also like to thank the national office of Pi Sigma Alpha and the UNLV Theta Phi Chapter of Pi Sigma Alpha for their support of our activities. Finally, WPSA President

Victoria Farrar-Myers has generously offered not only her time to the Association, but also financial support for the Graduate Student Reception.

The work of the Association is not limited to the Annual Conference. We now publish Political Research Quarterly, Politics, Groups and Identities; and the Western. The Association recognizes the best scholarship through annual awards. Committees focus on specific research interests and groups of members. Planning is ongoing for future conferences and we are building an endowment to ensure our continued growth. Each of these efforts requires the active involvement of the membership, of volunteers on committees, and of our Board. Let me thank these volunteers and particularly our board members. I also thank the members who have volunteered for future committee service or who have accepted my invitation to serve. The continued vitality of the Association is ensured by the willingness of the membership to give their time to our collective endeavors.

Most importantly, let me acknowledge and thank our President, Victoria Farrar-Myers. Her energy and enthusiasm are contagious. Much of what I have done as Program Chair over the past year is modeled on her gracious example.

As I've mentioned, the WPSA has recently begun to build an endowment. I would like to thank donors who have contributed to the new online donations portal at the WPSA home page. Most notable among these are Ron and Rosemary Schmidt who set a high bar with a contribution of $2,000. As many of you know, Ron served as President of the WPSA in 2005-06. Should you see Ron or Rosemary in the halls of Caesar's, please thank them for their generosity and ongoing support for the Association.

Finally, I want to express my profound appreciation and thanks to the hard work, dedication, and commitment of WPSA Executive Director Richard Clucas and Associate Director Elsa Favila. Their wealth of experience, attention to detail, and overall concern for the association and its members ensures the vibrancy of the association and the quality of our experiences at the annual meeting. I have long appreciated their counsel and thoughtful observations, but over the past year as I have watched the planning for this conference evolve, I have come to appreciate the fact that they treat no concern as too small. They are there for us throughout the year and the richness of our experience is built on their hard labors.

Please enjoy yourselves at the conference and in Las Vegas. Certainly some of what happens in Vegas stays in Vegas, but I hope the ideas, energy, and conversations of the conference go home with you and motivate you until we meet again next year in San Diego.

Theme: The Politics of Peril and Opportunity

In 2016, we gather in San Diego, a city that crystallizes the politics of peril and opportunity. It is the principal home port of the Navy's Pacific fleet, but also home to more than half a million immigrants, including about 180,000 undocumented immigrants. Occasionally threatened by wildfires and earthquakes, San Diego also hosts nearly two dozen institutions of higher education, including public, private, and non-profit colleges and universities, all of which are grappling with drastic changes in higher education. This beautiful and interesting place offers a chance to reflect on the politics and opportunities involved in naming and addressing peril.

This theme directs our attention to contemporary crises and to the political construction of crisis. Perils dominate the headlines and provoke demands for political solutions: ISIS, Ebola and other infectious diseases, a "broken" immigration system, failures in public primary and secondary education, internationally rising economic inequality and falling unionization rates, police violence and corrupt politics, climate change, Russian aggression, and a host of other concerns. In every scholar's backyard as well loom concerns about changes in higher education in the United States and other countries, as faculty governance wanes, the use of contingent labor under exploitative conditions increases, and an economized bottom line increasingly becomes the yardstick for success in teaching and research.

CALL FOR PAPERS – 2016 ANNUAL MEETING

The intersection of crisis and politics provokes a host of questions we can ask and answer about how events become crises and what consequences this has. How does a framework of peril change how politics happens or reshape the contours of state power? How are things constructed as threats? Alternatively, under what circumstances do some terrible things continue to happen without ever being understood as perilous to individuals, institutions, or a polity? Related questions resonate in normative registers as well.

The flip side of the theme of peril is opportunity, and scholars of politics are well situated to advance understanding of how dangers create political and institutional opportunities. Proposals considering how political actors, ideologies, and institutions respond creatively to crisis are welcomed, especially where scholars can critically analyze the allocation and reconfiguration of power in response to peril. Expanding agendas and institutions to address homeland security, immigration control, military and quasi-military threats, lack of public funding for education, and other problems warrant a close critical eye. We should also consider whether these or other crises create currently unimagined opportunities to achieve more just societies and states.

In the longstanding tradition of the Western Political Science Association, scholars are encouraged to place problems at the center of their research and explore these problems vigorously through whatever range of approaches best illuminates them. And likewise, we expect that concerns about individual, political, and structural inequities across a host of dimensions will animate many of our conversations.

Please join us in sunny San Diego to devote a weekend to understanding how we do – and should – grapple with these and other perils and opportunities.

Note: All participants in the program are required to preregister for the meeting by December 31, 2015.

DAY TRIPS

For those who have the time and are willing to do a little extra travelling, the following attractions are of particular interest and relatively close by for day-trip excursions:

Death Valley National Park (271 Highway 190, Death Valley, NV CA) 760-785-2392.
Jagged, rugged, severe, beautiful, sublime- these are perfect descriptions of Death Valley National Park. "Surprising" is also a good word for the greater Death Valley area. There are desiccated and colorful desert vistas everywhere. Geological history is on full display. But there are also lush pockets of green plant life, Old West remnants and funky contemporary enclaves in this bigger-than-big wonderland.

Tips:

- Always carry plenty of water and wear a hat, the elements here are intense.
- Fill up your gas tank before driving to Death Valley National Park. While gas is available at Furnace Creek Gas Station and Stovepipe Wells Gas Station, it is more expensive than outside the park.
- There is lodging available at Furnace Creek Inn, Furnace Creek Ranch and Stovepipe Wells. Food, sundries and groceries are available at these locations as well. Surrounding towns such as Tecopa, Shoshone and Beatty offer varying services.
- More than one million people visit the park each year. Spring and fall are the most popular and comfortable times to visit.

Grand Canyon (www.nps.gov/GRCA/planyourvisit/index.htm)

Grand is an understatement. One glimpse of its majesty is all it takes to understand why the Grand Canyon is considered one of the natural wonders of the world. The canyon is a staggering 277 miles long. At its deepest, it is about a mile from the rim to the Colorado River far below and it is as much as 18 miles wide in some spots. The park encompasses 1,904 square miles and visibility on a good day can reach up to 100 miles. The beauty and vibrant colors of the rocks, the mighty river flowing through the center and the wide variety of plant and animal life that inhabit the canyon combine to make it a spot that 5 million people from around the world visit each year.
