

INTERPRETIVE METHODS WORKSHOP
Wednesday, March 9, 2022, 1:45-5.45 p.m. Pacific Coast Time
(Hybrid Session)

SCHEDULE:

| Portland in person        | Name                                                                  | Book title                                                                                                                                         |
|---------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1:45 p.m.Pacific Time | welcome, introductions                                         |                                                                                                                                                    |
| 2:00 p.m.                 | Anastasia ShesterininaUniversity of Sheffield                     | Mobilizing in Uncertainty Collective Identities and War in Abkhazia. Cornell University Press, 2021                                         |
| 2:15 p.m.                 | Carolyn HolmesMississippi State University                        | The Black and White Rainbow: Reconciliation, Opposition, and Nation-Building in Democratic South Africa. University of Michigan Press, 2020 |
| 2:30 p.m.                 | Ron Schmidt, Sr.California State University, Long Beach, emeritus | Interpreting Racial Politics in the United States. Routledge, 2021                                                                          |
| 2:45 p.m.                 | Jeff FriedmanHarvard University                                   | Power without Knowledge: A Critique of Technocracy. Oxford University Press, 2019                                                           |
| 3:00 p.m.                 | questions/discussion                                           | First set of books                                                                                                                                 |
| 3:20 p.m.                 | break                                                          |                                                                                                                                                    |
| 3:35 p.m.                 | Kevin BruyneelBabson College                                      | Settler Memory: The Disavowal of Indigeneity and the Politics of Race in the United States. UNC Press, 2021                                 |
| 3:50 p.m.                 | Daniel KirschSacramento State University                          | Sold My Soul for a Student Loan: Higher Education and the Political Economy of the Future. Praeger, 2019                                    |
| 4:05 p.m.                 | Kimala PriceSan Diego State University                            | Reproductive Politics in the United States. Routledge, 2021                                                                                 |
| 4:20 p.m.                 | Renee CramerDrake                                                 | Birthing a Movement: Midwives, Law, and the Politics of Reproductive Care. Stanford University Press, 2021                                  |
| 4:35 p.m.                 | Sarah MarusekUniversity of Hawai'i                                | Law and the Kinetic Environment: Regulating Dynamic Landscapes. Routledge, 2021                                                             |
| 4:50 p.m.                 | questions/discussion                                           | Second set of books                                                                                                                                |
| 5:20 p.m.                 | organizing for next year                                       |                                                                                                                                                    |
| 5:45 p.m.                 | adjourn to someplace for coffee, drinks                        |                                                                                                                                                    |